Fall Colors Downtown with Music and More

DOWNTOWN ALIVE!

For 29 years, Acadiana's premiere concert series, Downtown Alive! (DTA!) has united community and culture to create a weekly tradition and celebration in Downtown Lafayette every Fall and Spring. The Fall 2011 series is no exception, once again offering great entertainment in the form of free, family-friendly, smoke free, outdoor concerts.

Sponsored by Cox Communications, Lafayette Coca-Cola, Let's Be Totally Clear and Teche Drugs Pharmacy, DTA! features performances by Grammy nominated, renowned and up and coming musicians representing a variety of genres: Cajun, Zydeco, Blues, Reggae, Rock and more. The Fall season also includes special events throughout, celebrating Festivals Acadiens et Créoles, painting Downtown red for the UL Homecoming Pep Rally and celebrating the holidays with the lighting of the official City Christmas Tree at the last DTA! of the season on Thanksgiving Eve.

Bike Check Available...

Concert goers can also check their bikes at DTA! as BikeLafayette will provide a bicycle corral for each event. Bicycle corrals work like a coat check for bicycles. Patrons are issued a claim check in exchange for their bike, and BikeLafayette attendants will watch over the bicycle free of charge. "BikeLafayette at Downtown Alive! will show the Lafayette community the joy and accessibility of biking in our city. Lafayette has a resource for safe and informed biking in BikeLafayette. Our goal is to make Lafayette one of the most bike-able cities in the country; we can do this best by getting people on bikes," said Tony Bonomolo of BikeLafayette.

Freetown Mid-Week Farmer's Market

Every Wednesday from 3 p.m.-7 p.m., the new Freetown Farmer's Market offers fresh produce on the corner of Johnston and Vermilion streets. David Klier with Helping Hands Farm started this summer with a few farmers bringing their wares, and it is rapidly expanding with vendors offering everything from homemade soaps to freshly baked breads. Plans are in place to extend the market to include Saturday afternoons this fall. For more information, find them on Facebook or email David at helpinghandsfarm@gmail.com.

Downtown Lafayette's Movies in the Parc presented by Cox features family friendly movies under the stars in Parc International. Take the family and bring a blanket to enjoy the first movie of the Fall series, "Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince", on September 17. In conjunction with the Lafayette Science Museum, "Jurassic Park" will be featured on October 22 with special activities provided by the museum.

Movies begin at dusk, and admission is $2 and free for children 5 and under. Parking is available at Parc-Auto du Centreville at Polk and Vermilion Streets. Concessions are available on site.

Special thanks to contributors The Daily Advertiser and 99.9 KTDY.

The Lafayette Science Museum is gearing up for two exhibitions opening this October that are sure to amaze, enlighten and frighten.

Night at the Museums

Prepare to be truly frightened as you journey through the darkest corners of the museum at The Museum of Fear for eight nights of horror – Fridays and Saturdays in October. This event will use a combination of mazes, special effects, custom sound and light, special effects makeup, props, actors and more to be one of the scariest attractions in Lafayette. In conjunction, the Children's Museum of Acadiana will also have "Scary Storytelling" for those not yet ready for horror. Admission is $8 or $13 to visit both attractions.

Dinosaurs: Ancient Fossils, New Discoveries, opening at the Lafayette Science Museum, October 8-March 11, 2012, is a tantalizing exhibition that shatters many preconceived notions by presenting some of the most recent dino discoveries in the fields of paleontology, biomechanical engineering, and paleobotany. Investigate some of the most puzzling dinosaur mysteries: What did they look like? How did they move in herds? Did they go extinct? Newly discovered fossils and high-tech computer animation reveal the answers to puzzling dinosaur mysteries. The 7,000 square foot exhibit includes a stunning 60-foot-long model of an Apatosaurus skeleton, based on new drawings produced by DinoMorph software, full-size cast skeleton of a Tyrannosaurus rex, life-size model of newly identified primitive tyrannosaur, one of the largest re-creations of a prehistoric environment ever built and much more.

Imagine the thrill of discovering something brand-new about a creature that lived millions of years ago. Ever since the first dinosaur fossil was identified almost 200 years ago, people have wondered how these fascinating animals lived, moved and behaved. At first, dinosaur hunters used only such tools as a keen eye, shovels and compasses.

Today, scientists also rely on everything from satellite technology to scanning electron microscopes. Prepare to take a journey of discovery into the exciting world of modern paleontology, where new discoveries, new technology and new ideas are helping today's scientists piece together what these living, breathing dinosaurs were really like.

Located at 433 Jefferson Street, the Lafayette Science Museum is open Tuesday – Friday from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.; Saturday from 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; and Sunday from 1 p.m.-6 p.m. Call 337-291-5544 for more information, or visit www.lafayettesciencemuseum.org.

Prospect Lafayette

One of the most exciting developments for Acadiana's visual arts scene is the selection of the Acadiana Center for the Arts as a satellite location of Prospect.2. New Orleans. Prospect.2. is one of the most highly anticipated contemporary arts events in the United States. Prospect .2. is the most significant international arts bi-annual in North America comprising both an annex and a historical overview. Prospect Lafayette will feature works by Icelandic artist Ragnar Kjartansson as well as Bruce Davenport, Jr., Dawn Dedeaux and significant works originally shown in Prospect.1. and Prospect 1.5. More information about this event is available at www.acadianacenterforthearts.org.

Krantz Named Museum Director

Kevin Krantz has been named as the new Museum Administrator of the Lafayette Science Museum. "I'm proud to represent the Lafayette Science Museum as its new Administrator. I consider this to be a great opportunity for myself, as well as the museum, and the great community we serve. Considering the upcoming lineup of exhibits and events, the next few years will be a rebirth for our museum. We are currently working together with ACA, Children's Museum of Acadiana, and UL at Lafayette to create educational programming, cooperative exhibitions, and multi-organizational fundraising events," said Krantz.

4th Annual Boudin Cookoff

On October 22, the Boudin Cook-off celebrates its 4th annual event as professionals and amateurs alike compete for the "Best Boudin in Acadiana" title. The competition will take place in Parc Sans Souci from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. with more than 20 vendors offering samples to all who attend. The cook-off expands the flavor this year with more teams than ever before and new, free events for children. Tasters are also put to the test during the boudin eating contest, and winners get bragging rights for the entire year. For details and a chance to enter a raffle to be a judge for the cook-off, visit www.boudincookoff.com

Festival International de Louisiane (FIL) officially moved into their new office space located at 444 Jefferson St. earlier this month. Although it is still a work in progress, they are thrilled to settle into their more spacious offices. "After 25 years, it's time for Festival to grow with a larger staff. Expanding the physical space – our offices – is a natural and welcome transition," said Dana Baker, Executive Director.

Along with a brand new office, FIL has two new staff members joining their team although neither are new to Downtown or FIL. Apiyo Obala is the new Marketing Coordinator for FIL. Obala most recently worked with the Performing Arts Society of Acadiana as Community Relations Director and has served on the FIL board for three years in addition to serving as a volunteer for several years. Michel Pio Reviere joins FIL as Development Coordinator. He was formerly the general manager at Legend's Downtown and graduated from the University of Louisiana at Lafayette with a Bachelor of Science in Marketing.

Agave Now Open

After a kitchen fire at Agave in August, much progress has been made to restore this popular eatery. Owner, Nidal Balbeisi, is thrilled that the restaurant is up and running and reopened its doors earlier this month to their loyal customers. Development is continuing on the multi-use Atakapa-Ishak Trail, the first phase running from Parc Sans Souci to Beaver Park, which is expected to open for use later this year. The Parc Sans Souci trailhead will include bicycle loop racks and meter hitches, as well as a kiosk where trail information and maps will be posted. Additional bicycle loop racks will be installed at the nearby corner of E. Vermilion and Polk Streets. Last month, a few test meter hitches were placed near Parc Sans Souci in order to get feedback from bike enthusiasts.

Getting bike-friendly

The Ballroom Gets a Facelift

The Ballroom Downtown at 417 Jefferson Street has undergone a complete renovation and is opening soon as an event and catering venue. The Ballroom received new tile flooring and the kitchen area was expanded to accommodate the capacity of the venue. The refined polish of the second floor balcony has a classical finish of wood and glasswork, which allows for a VIP area looking down to the first floor reception space. Additionally, façade improvements and a newly paved parking area on the Polk Street side of the building complete

Mike and Tony Qamhiyeh

The Ballroom's new look. Owners Mike and Tony Qamhiyeh are looking forward to welcoming new events and receptions and can accommodate parties of up to 750. "Downtown needed a larger reception hall and place for business seminars to accommodate more people. We hope this is a positive move for Downtown. It's a win-win to upgrade our property and put it to work," said Tony Qamhiyeh. For booking and more information contact 337-235-2924.

The Arts Co-op at 535 ½ Jefferson Street is the newest addition to the Downtown Lafayette Cultural District. The mission of the Arts Co-op is to open new doors for all art forms- visual artists, singer/songwriters, writers, poets, independent film makers, and ULL student works. Preliminary plans for adult workshops and classes for children in various media are also in the works. Featured artists will be Tanya Falgout with her downtown cityscapes and family portraits, Cliff Broussard presenting his mixed-media ceramic tile with copper enamels and organic monotype prints and Travis Prejean with his color rich mixed-media landscape series. For more information, contact Tanya Falgout at tanyafalgout@gmail.com.

Post Office Update

In welcome news, the Downtown area post office currently located in the Rosa Parks Transportation Center will remain open. Post Office Operations Manager Jeff Camp says it is in the best interest of the organization to allow the Jefferson Street Station to stay open, and provide retail service and mail delivery to the community.

The Opportunity Machine (OM) at

"The Switch", located at the corner of Buchanan and Central streets, will host a seminar on Utilizing Social Media on Wednesday, September 28 led by Brian Bille. This extremely informative Tune-up session is free and open to the public. Visit www.opportunitymachine.org for more information on events and Tune-up sessions.

BRADLEY BLACK – ATTORNEY AT LAW

"I don't have to go far to do anything. Almost every amenity is right here, so I never have to get into my car."

"The best thing about living and working downtown is the small town vibe. You grab lunch at your favorite spot, you see the same people every day. You know the people walking down the street - it's its own little community."
